Al Teglia

Former Daly City Mayor Al Teglia was an exemplar of public service. Known widely as “Mr. Daly City,” Al dedicated his life to improving outcomes for youth and marginalized populations not only in Daly City, but throughout San Mateo County.

Al began his career in education, working with the San Mateo Union High School District for 38 years before serving the Jefferson Union High School District as an impactful Board of Trustees member. Later in life, Al channeled his passion for helping youth into several community endeavors, founding an impressively-long list of programs that continue to uplift young people today. Al’s legacy includes Jobs for Youth as well as the Children’s Fund, dental programs for uninsured children and seniors, Adopt-a-Family, the ICF Gifts of Love Program, and the Daly City Public Library Association.

Al’s years in public service also included an incredible five terms as City Council Member of Daly City and four terms as Mayor. He was instrumental in founding the Caltrain and SamTrans agencies, was a strong advocate for the County of San Mateo Human Services Agency, and provided leadership to an array of public, religious, and nonprofit organizations.

The list of Al’s contributions to our community is long, and Jobs for Youth is proud to be part of that ongoing legacy. In 2005, Al co-founded the Jobs for Youth Al Teglia Scholarship, ensuring that hundreds of hardworking youth would be able to afford a postsecondary education and thereby transform their lives and futures. We honor Al’s memory with every new scholarship that we award.

In Loving Memory of
Frances Foglia-Teglia

May 7, 1931 - April 27, 2021

Frances Foglia-Teglia was born on May 7, 1931 in Buffalo, New York and passed on April 27, 2021 in Neversink, New York. Frances moved from Buffalo to Sacramento, CA in 1967 where she spent most her adult life. Her and her first husband, William (Bill) Foglia, opened the Sausage Kitchen, which was known for its incredible homemade sausages. She worked at and retired from Wells Fargo Bank where she was part of the team that installed the first ATM machines. Not one to remain idle, in her 60s Frances began working for the State of California Franchise Tax Board. She was very active in the Catholic church and the Italian Catholic Federation. In later years she became committed to the various causes her second husband Albert (Al) Teglia supported, especially his Jobs for Youth program.

Frances loved to cook and entertain and especially loved the holidays. In Neversink, NY, her home since 2016, she was known for her incredible Halloween and Christmas displays. She also looked forward to helping at the Grahamsville Little World's Fair every year where her beautiful smile and friendly manner always made new friends. Frances had a love for all animals, especially her cherished cats Pia and Dolce which she and Al raised from the age of 4 days old.

Rest in peace Frances. Thank you for always being such a strong supporter of Jobs for Youth.

Mike Callagy

Mike Callagy
County Manager

As County Manager, Mike Callagy oversees the efficient running of daily County operations and carries out policies established by the Board of Supervisors. Mike joined the County in 2013 as a Deputy County Manager and was named Assistant County Manager in April 2016. In November 2018, he assumed the role of County Manager after being appointed by the Board of Supervisors. Mike has more than 35 years of public sector service experience.

Before joining the County, Mike spent 29 years with the San Mateo Police Department where he ran day-to-day operations as the deputy police chief until his retirement. He is a licensed attorney in the state of California and in addition to his law degree from Santa Clara University, holds a Bachelor of Arts and Master's in public administration from the College of Notre Dame and a Master's in homeland defense and security from the Naval Postgraduate School.

A San Mateo County native, he lives in Foster City with his family.

David Canepa

President, Board of Supervisors

David J. Canepa is a fourth generation San Mateo County resident who grew up in Pacifica before settling into Daly City, where he currently resides with his wife Ana and young son David Piero. He is a former Daly City mayor and currently serves as Board President on the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

He was elected to the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors in November 2016 and was unanimously appointed by his fellow supervisors to the Metropolitan Transportation Commission on Jan. 12, 2021. He also sits on the Bay Area Air Quality Management District and several other local and regional boards.

Canepa supports MTC's vision to plan and partner for the next generation with bold leadership to improve mobility and end the chronic housing shortage in the Bay Area.

Housing, transportation and health care will continue to top Canepa's priority list as he works collaboratively to implement transformative policies that will lead to a better quality of life for all Bay Area residents.

Rocio Kiryczun
Human Resources Director

Rocio began her career at the County of San Mateo in 1990 as an office assistant in the County Manager's Office and has moved up through the ranks serving as Director of Human Resources since 2018.

She has a BA in Sociology, a Masters in Public Administration and was a graduate of the County's first Executive Leadership Academy, a program to develop County employees who are interested in promotion into a department head/assistant department head role.

Future Marine Biologist

Alexio Quintanilla

Future marine biologist Alexio Quintanilla is inspired by the ocean—its power to calm, to give life, and to evoke awe. Alexio looks forward to studying the micro-bacteria that keep the ocean clean, thriving, and fed, as well as the behavior of sea lions. A high school junior at Woodside High School, Alexio moved to the US from El Salvador with his mother in pursuit of a fresh start. Despite the challenges of learning in a new cultural and linguistic context, he has become a model student, earning straight As in the Fall 2020 semester. Alexio has learned how to draw inspiration from deep within, demonstrating the resilience, drive, and focus that will serve him well in his future career as a scientist.

Sponsored by the Woodlawn Foundation

Future biotechnology professional Brandon Marin is driven to answer complex scientific questions. A tenacious student from Pescadero, Brandon not only rises to meet challenges, but is motivated by them. He learned the power of education as a high schooler, when he realized that success in school could transform his life and that of his family. Brandon earned himself admission to UC Berkeley, where he studies computational biology and continues to challenge himself academically by taking increasingly difficult courses. His love of learning prepares him well for the constantly evolving field of biotechnology.

Future Biotechnology Professional

Sponsored In Memory of Eve Young Visconti

Future scientist Cayenne Wong finds natural phenomena fascinating. She has an abiding interest in understanding the reasons biological systems work the way they do, and she has a deep passion for helping others. Cayenne looks forward to combining these dual interests via a career in research or medicine. A junior at Mills High School, Cayenne is a true changemaker, serving her community as a Youth Climate Ambassador, as the Budget Director for the Millbrae chapter of the Leo Club, and as a volunteer with the Student Democracy Program. She will undoubtedly continue to have positive impacts on the world in college and beyond.

Future Scientist

Cayenne Wong

Future Physician Assistant

Fariha Khan

Sponsored by the Town of Colma

Future Physician Assistant Fariha Khan knows the impact that a smile or word of encouragement can have on a patient. As a volunteer at the Blood Centers of the Pacific and the Mills-Peninsula Medical Center, Fariha spent time connecting with each patient, witnessing the truly transformative effect that kindness could have on those in pain. Currently Fariha is working toward an Associate degree in biology at Skyline College, with the goal of transferring to the University of California for her Bachelor's degree. Fariha is invested in deeply understanding the medical field—she plans on participating in lab research and gaining experience as a Certified Nursing Assistant before heading to graduate school. Her dedication to becoming a skilled, wellrounded practitioner and scholar will benefit the field as a whole as well as Fariha's future patients.

Future Therapist

Gemma Sangervasi

Sponsored by the Community Foundation of San Carlos

Future therapist Gemma Sangervasi sees the beauty and healing potential in everyone. Gemma has been witness to the incredibly powerful impact that kindness can have on people in pain, and they strive to be that supportive voice for those around them. Gemma will graduate from Carlmont High School this June. They plan on pursuing a Bachelor's degree in psychology, and they hope to study techniques for supporting those in crisis. Gemma's commitment to transforming difficulty into resilience will support them throughout their studies and in their future work as a therapist.

Future environmental scientist Gina Barragan Gomez is passionate about understanding and combating climate change. As a campaign coordinator with Youth vs. Apocalypse, Gina fights for environmental justice on behalf of her community. She is also passionate about marine ecology, and she plans on expanding her activism to help protect marine life in the future. Gina will graduate from Woodside High School this Spring, after which she plans on attending a four-year university to study environmental science and marine biology. Gina is a skilled, bold voice for the earth and those impacted by climate change. Her leadership on environmental issues prepares her to continue making the world a better, and greener, place.

Future Environmental Scientist

Gina Barragan Gomez

Future Changemaker

Hannah Kemist

Future changemaker Hannah Kemist wants to help children learn, grow, and overcome challenges. A Woodside High School junior, Hannah has experienced firsthand exactly how impactful support from an understanding adult can be, and they seek to provide the same support to youth in need. Hannah has established themselves as a community leader, committed student, and dedicated athlete, earning accolades in all three realms, including Girl Scout Bronze and Silver Awards for community leadership and scholarship awards. Hannah's work ethic and commitment to improving lives will make them an incredible advocate for children in their future career.

Sponsored In Memory of Dora Collado

Future Doctor

Isabella Ramirez

Sponsored by San Mateo Credit Union

Future doctor Isabella Ramirez is passionate about transforming cancer treatment. In her planned career as a researcher and physician, Isabella hopes to become an expert on gene-editing technologies and genetic contributions to diseases. She is also passionate about serving the health needs of the wider community; most recently, Isabella gave back by running a women's health drive that resulted in a donation of over 3,000 hygiene products to homeless shelters. Isabella is a Capuchino High School senior. She will major in biochemistry in college before pursuing further medical training. Her vision for the future, focus, and drive will help her revolutionize the world of cancer treatment.

Future Medical Professional

Jessalyn Yepez

Sponsored by JFY Alumni Association

Future medical professional Jessalyn Yepez is interested in wholistic healthcare that considers the mind, the body, and family support systems. She knows that by pursuing a healthcare career, she will be able to transform her own life by lifting herself up economically and the lives of others through compassionate, person-centered treatment. Jessalyn plans on reaching these goals through a career as a doctor, nurse, or psychiatrist. She is currently a junior Woodside High School, where she has honed her teamwork and leadership skills as three-time captain and two-time MVP for the volleyball team. Jessalyn's ability to inspire others will make her an excellent healthcare resource for her future patients.

Future Polymath

Kai Steiner

Sponsored by the Woodlawn Foundation

Future polymath Kai Steiner draws inspiration from fields as diverse as math, education, and animation. A high school junior at Woodside High School, Kai challenges himself with advanced coursework that requires diverse skillsets. He is looking forward to further exploring his interests in college before settling on a major and career path. Whatever pathway Kai chooses, he will continue to uplift those around him—as a high schooler, Kai has fundraised for student-led community service projects, supported new Color Guard members as an assistant leader, and inspired others as an award-winning cross-country athlete. This commitment to building community and giving back will help him build a career that is not only personally fulfilling, but that also has a positive impact on the world.

Future Business Professional

Karla Martinez Mora

Sponsored by The City of Burlingame

Future business professional Karla Martinez Mora is inspired to use her graphic design and finance skills to create a bright future for herself. A Mills High School senior, Karla has already started a successful business, creating and selling original artwork to customers in the US and as far as Japan. She is passionate about small business ownership, marketing, and financial analysis, and she has experience in the real estate field. Karla's commitment to making her dreams come true will serve her well as she makes a name for herself in the business world.

Future Psychologist

Kimberly Jacinto Tum

Sponsored by the Woodlawn Foundation

Future psychologist Kimberly Jacinto Tum is motivated to make mental health services accessible to everyone who needs them. She knows that when people are able to share painful burdens with others, their lives can be completely transformed. After moving to the US from Guatemala, Kimberly enrolled at Woodside High School, where she has thrown herself into her studies, developing native-level English language fluency in only three years. She is currently a junior and looks forward to higher education coursework that will teach her how to skillfully help others. Kimberly's dedication to equity will make her a truly impactful mental health professional.

Future Pediatric Nurse

Laysa Velasquez Moreno

Sponsored by the Woodlawn Foundation

Future pediatric nurse Laysa Velasquez Moreno sees the potential in every child. As a tutor with the literacy organization Reading Partners, Laysa supports children in their education and growth. She is passionate about helping children feel comfortable and safe, and she can't wait to study anatomy, public health, and child psychology so that she can provide this support in a healthcare capacity. Laysa is currently a junior at Woodside High School. Her background in working one to one with children prepares her to become a compassionate, impactful pediatric professional.

Future NFL Agent

Leonel Rivera

Sponsored by San Mateo Credit Union

Future NFL agent Leonel Rivera feels inspired by all things sports—he loves playing sports, talking about sports, and cheering on his favorite teams. He hopes to combine this passion with skills in negotiation and finance management in order to support professional athletes. As a senior at East Palo Alto Academy, Leonel has proven his ability to reach difficult goals, overcoming personal challenges by improving his GPA by over 2 points in less than a year. Once he graduates from high school, Leonel plans on pursuing a degree in sports management. His tenacity will help him succeed in college and in the competitive world of professional sports.

Future Traveling Nurse

Leslie Reyes

Sponsored In Memory of Carolyn Livengood

Future traveling nurse Leslie Reyes plans on dedicating her career to working with children and families throughout the US. As a Sunday school teacher and Project Read volunteer, Leslie has developed strong skills in guiding and supporting youth. In addition to caring deeply about the welfare of children, she is passionate about healthcare access and looks forward to using her bilingual abilities in her future career. Leslie is a Sequoia High School senior who will graduate with an IB Diploma this spring, and she has challenged herself by taking on internship and leadership roles in STEM fields, media literacy, and community activism projects. Her dedication to giving back to others and diligence will make her a skilled nurse.

Future Cognitive Scientist

Madison Shem

Sponsored by the San Bruno Community Foundation

Future cognitive scientist Madison Shem finds the human brain fascinating, and she is driven to better understand linguistic and reasoning skills in different youth populations. Madison is particularly invested in supporting foster youth and other high-need groups. She hopes to learn more about brain functioning in these populations in order to support them as an advocate, researcher, and social worker. Madison is currently a senior at Design Tech High School, where she co-leads an international service organization. Her dedication to understanding and working alongside marginalized groups will make her a powerful force for good in her future career.

Future civil engineer Maram Ahmed is inspired to create a more sustainable Bay Area. A junior at Mills High School, Maram has already taken steps to make her community more environmentally friendly. As a SMC Youth Climate Ambassador, Maram worked with administration at her school to install rain barrels so that rainfall could be used for the school garden; she continued this work at the district level, developing a District Sustainability Committee in partnership with the SMUHSD superintendent. The problem-solving and collaboration skills Maram has developed through this project prepare her to make an incredible difference in her future career.

Future Pediatrician

Mia Carter

Sponsored by Pacific Gas and Electric Company

Future pediatrician Mia Carter finds the complexities of biological systems fascinating. A dedicated student, Mia finds motivation in challenging coursework and hopes to attend a college with a well-established science department. She is inspired to help children in her career, and she looks forward to pursuing a path that will allow her to combine her scientific interests with this interest in helping youth. Mia is currently a junior at Woodside High School, where she has dedicated herself to both academics and cheerleading. Her ability to commit fully to her interests will make her an excellent college student, graduate student, and healthcare professional.

Future Surgeon

Stephanie Robles Angel

Sponsored by Pacific Gas and Electric Company

Future surgeon Stephanie Robles Angel is motivated to give back to her community. She hopes to become a skilled doctor so that she can serve Spanish-speaking populations who may otherwise struggle to receive appropriate medical care. A Sequoia High School senior, Stephanie has a track record of challenging herself and of rising to meet those challenges. She has overcome stage fright to perform spoken word for her peers, was selected as the 2021 Boys & Girls Clubs of the Peninsula Youth of the Year, and was a finalist for the competitive QuestBridge National College Match program. Her willingness to tackle difficult tasks will serve Stephanie well in the challenging field of medicine.

Future food chemist Wing "Nicole" Tsang believes in the power of science to unlock previously-unimagined possibilities. She is interested in the chemical properties of food, and in her future career, she hopes to transform eating experiences by developing new flavors. A junior at Westmoor High School, Wing "Nicole" has received numerous accolades for achievement in athletics and community service. She gives back to her community as a bilingual teaching assistant and tutor, and she has supported TED Conferences as a translator. Nicole's curiosity, dedication to personal achievement, and investment in using her skills to support others will make her a powerful force in the world of food chemistry.

Nancy Magee

Community Impact Award

The San Mateo County Office of Education (SMCOE) supports school districts throughout the Peninsula, administers instructional programs, and champions public education. Led by Superintendent Nancy Magee, SMCOE has provided essential leadership during the cascading crises of Covid-19, racial injustice, and wildfires that have impacted communities throughout the Peninsula. Their work has provided much-needed support to schools and students during these challenging times, and their emphasis on the values of social justice, antiracism, and equity have inspired many organizations, including Jobs for Youth. For their service, vision, and leadership, we are proud to honor SMCOE and Superintendent Magee with the 2021 Jobs for Youth Community Service Award.

Award In Memory of Mary Paskevich/Carolyn Livengood

Mary Paskevich worked with Jobs for Youth for nearly twenty years, helping thousands of young people achieve their career and life goals. A lifelong resident of San Francisco and Foster City, Mary was truly an emblem of all that Jobs for Youth stands for: She believed deeply in youth and in the value of service to the community.

Mary Paskevich

Award In Memory of Mary Paskevich/Carolyn Livengood

Carolyn Livengood served Jobs for Youth for 18 years as a dedicated Workgroup Member. She played a pivotal role in founding the Al Teglia Scholarship and raised tens of thousands of dollars for the program, changing the lives of countless JFY Scholars. In addition to her work with Jobs for Youth, Carolyn made transformational changes to the County through tireless advocacy and service for those in need. She served as President of the Avenue of Flags Committee and fundraised extensively for causes related to reducing homelessness, improving schools, and honoring military personnel and veterans. In recognition of her community work, Carolyn was inducted into the San Mateo County Women's Hall of Fame in 2004.

Carolyn Livengood

Mona Urbina

Mary Paskevich/Carolyn Livengood Award

Environmental horticulturalist Mona Urbina supports youth in becoming stewards of the earth, helping them transform their relationships to food, community, and nature. As the Food and Education Manager of the nonprofit farm Pie Ranch, Mona helps Pescadero students of all ages learn essential organic gardening and cooking skills. She centers the principles of social justice, respect, and collaboration in every aspect of her work, and she seeks to understand, and integrate, the cultural values of the communities she works with into her lessons. In addition to her work as a professional educator, Mona has supported communities experiencing food insecurity as a volunteer, helping to distribute fresh food to families during the Covid-19 pandemic and to those experiencing homelessness in the Tenderloin district. Mona is a tireless advocate in the fight for food security, environmental stewardship, and youth empowerment, and we are thrilled to present her with the 2021 Mary Paskevich/Carolyn Livengood Award.

Iris Tan

JFY Alumni Achievement Award

Future emergency room nurse Iris Tan Sanchez is driven to improve the lives of her community and her family. Over the past several years, Iris has balanced school with employment and family responsibilities, working hard to serve as a role model for her daughter while making her own dreams come true. A current student at Cañada College, Iris plans on completing her general education requirements by 2022 before transferring to a nursing program. Iris hopes that her success will inspire former foster youth like herself, a community she currently supports as the Coordinator for the County of San Mateo Supported Training and Employment Program (STEP). Iris received the Jobs for Youth Al Teggia Scholarship in 2012. For her service, hard work, and dedication to her educational goals, we are thrilled to present her with the 2021 JFY Alumni Achievement Award.

Ana

2014 JFY Alum

Aloisa

2015 JFY Alum

Ana Martinez-Gomez graduated from Carlmont High School in 2015. In her senior year, Ana was awarded a Jobs for Youth Al Teglia Scholarship and interned at the San Mateo County Department of Child Support Services. Ana graduated from the University of California, Merced with a BS in Molecular and Cell Biology and is currently exploring career opportunities. She is proud to be one of the founding members of the Jobs for Youth Alumni Association and is currently a Jobs for Youth Alumni Consultant. Ana is excited about this leadership role and looks forward to creating opportunities for success and growth for fellow alumni of the program.

Jobs for Youth alumna Aloisa Reyes is currently an undergraduate at San Francisco State University, where she is majoring in Communication Studies and minoring in Labor Studies. A graduate of Carlmont High School, Aloisa has honed her career skills through participation in Jobs for Youth and as an intern at Kaiser Permanente. Aloisa is very excited to be one of the founding members of the Jobs for Youth Alumni Association and is looking forward to seeing the growth and development of this community.
